

TRUCK CAUGHT FIRE IN LOCAL GARAGE

A spark from a welder's torch accidentally started a fire on a truck in one of the local garages on Monday evening at approximately 8 o'clock. The fire truck was quickly summoned and after a few minutes work put the fire out. Between $250 and $300 damage was done to the truck.

The Coleman Journal

Most Effective Advertising Medium reaching the People of Town and District. The Journal goes into the Homes.

VOLUME 22, NO. 37

THE JOURNAL, COLEMAN, ALBERTA

TUESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1944 $2.00 Per Year; Single Copy 5c.

AID THE
Food Industries
War Saving
Campaign

Murdered Woman's Body Found In East Coleman

H. C. McBurney Retires From Business; Had Taken Great Interest In Community Activities

Had Operated Drug Store Here for Past Thirty Years. Ill Health Causes Decision; Business Purchased by Gordon Steeves of Blairmore

It is with a great deal of regret that the many friends and customers of H. C. McBurney learned this week that he had sold his drug store business and would retire from Coleman business life at the close of business this coming Saturday evening. "Mac" has been one of the main "go-getters" among the merchants, who by his interest in community affairs, has kept Coleman in the fore front among the other southern Alberta towns of its size. His retirement from business life is going to leave a gap that will be greatly felt.

Prior to coming to Coleman he travelled for Martin, Bole and Wynne, wholesale druggists. Getting the urge to go into business for himself he operated a drug store at Coalhurst and another at Diamond City.

The Crows Nest Pass however was looming large in the industrial life of southern Alberta at this time and in 1913, Mr. and Mrs. McBurney came to Coleman, "Mac" opening his drug store, in its present location April 1.

During the past thirty years he has operated a first class drug store, his friends and customers giving him what was a host of friends and patrons. In addition to operating the store he has given a number of local young men and women an opportunity of learning the drug business and all of them are now qualified druggists, some having drug stores of their own while others are in the employ of city druggists or in the armed services.

His thirty years of residence here has been one constant struggle for community improvement. Soon after coming here he, along with a former Journal editor, Ben Woodhill, started a move-

St. Alban's Ladies Guild

Ladies' and Gent's

Whist Drive

on

Friday, Jan. 28

at 8 o'clock

in St. Alban's Parish Hall

Admission 25c. Good Prizes

Everyone Welcome

RED CROSS DANCE
in the POLISH HALL, Coleman
SAT., JAN. 29
Dancing 9 p.m. till Midnight
EDLE'S ORCHESTRA
Gents 50c - Ladies 35c
SUPPORT THE RED CROSS

ment which resulted in the first curling rink and club being established. He has been honored on several occasions by being elected president of the local club. Some years later he was one of the main forces behind the collection of funds to erect what is now known as Coleman Crystal arena. The late A. M. Morrison was its first chairman, "Mac" succeeding Mr. Morrison to that position and was chairman of the Board of Trustees to this year when the arena was taken over by the town council.

During the years of 1923-24 he was a member of the town council, the only position he has held in civic office although he has been active right up to the present in helping place competent men into civic office.

Up to within the past year he had been quite interested in sports, fishing and hunting being his summer and fall favorites.

In the world of politics he has been a staunch supporter of the Liberal party. Prior to the last provincial election he was elected president of the Provincial Liberal Association for the Crows Nest Pincher Creek constituency, a position he still holds.

Since the start of the war he has become interested in helping the war effort, his interest gaining him the position of unit organizer of War Finance Committee. He held this position till last fall, when ill-health caused him to relinquish the position to Mr. Frank Aboush.

Sick leave struck suddenly in August, 1943, while on vacation. Since that time he has failed to regain his usual normal health, and since he was unable to cope with the unrelenting pressure of business was forced to take the decision that he must sell his business.

The business has been sold to Mr. Gordon Steeves, Blairmore druggist who will operate both Blairmore and Coleman stores. The local business will be operated under the trade name of Coleman Pharmacy. Mr. Steeves will have as his manager of the local store his assistant for the past several years, Mr. Fred Smith. The latter is married and has two children. They will move to Coleman as soon as they secure housing accommodation.

MAYOR EXPRESSES REGRET
With a sense of regret the Town learns of the retirement from business of Mr. McBurney and on behalf of the citizens of Coleman and the Town Council, I extend kind wishes to Mr. McBurney and hope that he may soon be restored to health and that he and Mrs. McBurney may enjoy many happy years.

Fred Antrobus
Mayor of Coleman

The Prices Board warns that basic period ceiling prices must apply in the retail sale of shelled peanuts.

APPLICATIONS WANTED

Applications will be received by the undersigned for the position of a Female School Janitor.

All applications to be tendered not later than Monday, January 31st.

G. LEES,
Secretary.

Coleman Couple Celebrate Silver Wedding

An event of wide local interest took place on Saturday evening, Jan. 22, when a well known and highly respected couple, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Beveridge, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary, thus making 25 years of happy married life.

The event was celebrated in the couple's home on Fifth street. The rooms were tastefully decorated, to which several gifts of cut flower bouquets added further charm. Forty one guests were present to help celebrate the auspicious occasion, among them being the bride and groom's only daughter, Betty, and her husband, Mr. Jack Robinson, of Calgary, also among the guests was Mr. and Mrs. Beveridge's bestman at their wedding in 1919, in the person of A. Dewar.

Guests commenced to arrive at 7 p.m. and soon the house was comfortably filled. There was no planned program and several talented guests contributed with songs and led in group singing. One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of a sterling silver tea set by Mr. and Mrs. Beveridge to their daughter, Betty. Mrs. Beveridge's parents have received the set as a gift at their silver wedding many years before. Mrs. Beveridge had received the set from them and on Saturday it passed on to another younger generation.

During the festivities Mr. and Mrs. Beveridge, by popular command, delivered a brief address at Calgary.

Archie Fraser Awarded Town Ash Contract

Has Already Commenced His Duties; Ash Fee Now 40c Monthly; Fee to be Collected at Town Office.

A special meeting of the town council was held last Thursday evening for the purpose of coming to some settlement for hauling of ashes and setting a fair monthly ash fee.

After some discussion it was passed that the monthly fee be set at 40c, this being $4.80 per year.

It was further agreed that either the yearly fee or a six month fee of $2.40 could be paid to the town secretary prior to the issuance of the tax notices. Should the ash fee not be paid before the tax notices are issued they will be recorded on the latter.

The ashman will be given a monthly cheque of $200.00.

At the week-end the ash contract was awarded Mr. Archie Fraser who has secured his release from the mines. Mr. Fraser is now engaged in removing the ashes throughout the town.

COMMUNITY HALL DANCE A SUCCESS

The dance on Friday evening sponsored by the Community hall committee to raise funds to help defray the 1943 deficit on the hall's operation expenses, was very well patronized and was a financial success. The committee is now endeavoring to arrange for a few more dances, announcement to be made at a later date.

... V ...

Bandsman Roy Beddington has been confined to his barracks by Dr. Deere due to sickness.

... V ...

NOTICE

Residents of Coleman, are hereby notified to BOIL ALL WATER for drinking purposes until further notice.

COLEMAN TOWN COUNCIL

Peter Abramowicz, Coleman Miner, Confesses Crime to Lethbridge Police; Inquest Here To-Night

Peter Abramowicz, 49-year-old Polish coal miner who has resided in East Coleman for almost two years is being held by the R.C.M.P. at Lethbridge on a charge of murdering his former common-law wife, Veronica Zahorejko of Lethbridge, in his shack in Bushtown early Tuesday morning.

Pontiac-Cole-Studebaker Bonspiel Here This Sunday

Bellevue, Blairstown and Coleman Clubs to Compete; Use Local and Blairmore Ice

Coleman curling club will sponsor its first bonspiel in many years this week-end when it plays host to Blairstown and Bellevue clubs in the annual Pontiac-Studebaker-Cole bonspiel.

The spiel had been sponsored somewhat hurriedly as many curlers wanted it held before the big Crows Nest bonspiel which was set back two weeks from its original date due to mild weather.

A meeting to determine whether to hold the spiel here or not was held Tuesday evening and it was unanimously agreed that the spiel should be held here. Immediately following the meeting five local rinks placed their entries and several more are expected as soon as other Coleman skips became aware that the event was to be held here. Blairstown and Bellevue will also send a number of rinks.

An effort will be made by the local executive to prevail on all skips to enter club rinks. This gives the greenmen a chance to get into competition with all having an equal chance at the prizes. Packed rinks will be looked upon with disfavor although there will be nothing to stop a packed rink should it choose to enter the spiel.

... V ...
BOOST ADMISSION PRICES AT RED CROSS DANCES

Starting this Saturday admission prices at the Red Cross and Polish Society dances will be boosted from that of past years. The new prices are gents 50c and ladies 35c.

Reason for the increase is said to be caused from so little revenue being derived from the dances. The hall is well filled but due to the heavy expenses as against low admission prices very little revenue is being secured.

Sales of poultry grit have been brought under ceiling prices by a Prices Board order.

NOTICE To All Residents of Coleman

NOTICE is hereby given that from January 1st, 1944, payments for the hauling of ashes of householders in the Town of Coleman, must be made through the Town Office at the rate of $4.80 per year or $2.40 for six months.

Should anyone wish to pay for the hauling of ashes prior to issuance of tax notices, they may do so at the Town Office.

In case of default of payment for hauling ashes, the amount will be charged against the property.

As hauling of ashes are being charged from January 1st, 1944, any person who has paid money to Mr. Maslen for ashes in advance can apply to him for a refund.

COLEMAN TOWN COUNCIL

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

At a sale in Launceston, England, $13.50 was paid for a small teddy bear and $38.50 for a rocking horse.

The Soviet War News Review says that a Russian translation of British Commonwealth Constitutional documents is in great demand among Russian scholars.

Members of the British Women's Army Auxiliary are to be issued with uniform sling bags of the type issued to members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

A fully armed Slovak force of 2,140, sent into Southern Russia by the Germans, recently eluded the Nazis and joined the Red Army, the Czech Press Bureau said.

At Manchester, England, sentences totaling over 19 years imprisonment and fines totaling $42,200 were imposed on seven men and three women involved in black market deals.

In the second year of the war 40,000,000 garments were made in India for the Army, almost equal to the entire production of the last war. Today the figure is 10,000,000 garments a month.

The Fifth U.S. Army in Italy captured a German prisoner named Goebels, who promptly made a brief speech to the effect that he is not related to the vulture branch of the family.

In Saskatchewan and Alberta more land was brought into farming between 1921 and 1941 than in all other provinces combined. In both provinces 433 acres is the average farm size.

Commander of a Canadian infantry brigade in Sicily and Italy, Brigadier M. H. Penhal of Ottawa has returned to Britain to resume his duties on the general staff at Canadian headquarters.

The Teacher

Generally The Poorest Paid, In Relation To Importance

Our teachers, grade school or university professors, are perhaps the most essential economic or professional entity in the nation. Yet in relation to their importance they are about the most poorly paid group. Just reflect on what is expected of the teachers. They are responsible for the development of our children through the most formative years of their lives. In far too many cases their responsibility is even greater than that assumed by the parents.

The teachers are expected to transcend all human limitations and exhibit all the virtues and none of the vices. They are expected not only to teach and instruct the children in all they must know, but to correct in the child all the wrong habits of the home and an environment beyond their control. They are supposed to understand the child in a manner some parents make no effort to do, to uncover all the little quirks of character and temperament, and overcome the bad and develop the good.

Asking this, we have consistently refused or failed to face up to an honest evaluation of its worth—Toronto Globe and Mail.

Super Highways

Non-Stop Motorways Envisaged By The British Road Federation

A super-modern system of motor roads which probably would make car travelling in Britain the fastest in the world, is envisaged by the British Road Federation, in plans prepared by the London County Surveyors' Society.

They provide for the construction of 1,000 miles of motorways—non-stop, 100 feet wide dual carriage-way roads restricted to fast motor traffic—without destroying the beauty of the countryside or endangering life by passing through towns and villages, the roads would cross-the country, connecting London and Glasgow, Newcastle and Liverpool or Manchester and Swansea.

There would be no cross roads, side turnings or even steep hills, and the highways would pass over or under existing roads with cloverleaf junctions giving access to any village or town.

The cost? About £60,000 a mile, which is £40,000 less than the cost of reconstructing existing main roads to suit present-day speed.

AFTER DINNER SPEECH

A colonel was speaking at a dinner given in his honor before embarking for Africa.

"I thank you," he concluded, "for your kind wishes regarding my welfare, and I want you to know that when I am far away, surrounded by ugly, grinning savages, I shall always think of you."

A New Book

"Those Were The Days", By Edward R. Hewitt

There's a new book on the market called "Those Were The Days" by Edward R. Hewitt. His grandfather was Peter Cooper, who built the first steam engine in America; his father was engaged with Cyrus Field in laying the first Atlantic cable; he himself, has patented 60 processes and invented the diaphragm of the present telephone.

Two of the best yarns in a book packed with good ones are about the Canadian woods. Mr. Edward Hewitt, the present author, was involved in civic politics in the worst days of Tammany Hall and Boss Tweed. Taking a trip to Canada—possibly Nipigon—his French-Canadian guide said that he knew Mr. William Tweed and Mr. Sweeney, and asked if Mr. Hewitt knew them. He replied, "Yes, I knew them. They robbed the City of New York of millions of dollars and were put in prison and Tweed died there." The guide yelled: "And I was out the woods alone with them for two weeks."

Hewitt's friend Mondel, an engineer, was shown a mining prospect by a Canadian guide. It proved valuable and Mondel saw that the discoverers got a fair half share. One of the guides became foreman of the mine, as he knew and cared for no other life than hard physical work in the bush. The shares meant nothing to him, nor figures in a bank book. But one day he went to Montreal, sold some of his shares and instructed a jeweller to buy the biggest diamond he could find. This the foreman tied with a stout cord and hung about his neck inside his clothes. So that as he moved about his work this hard object would hit him in the stomach and remind him that he was a rich man.

Mr. Hewitt used to catch fish for the father of the old Kaiser, shot grouse in Scotland and managed to have an excellent time. His narrative ranges from the birth of Peter Cooper in 1791 to the present and is consistently bright. As there is no chronological sequence, it is the right book for a club or waiting room or bedside, also for one recuperating from an illness, because it is always cheerful. Digest from a review in Globe and Mail, Toronto.

SERIOUS READING

British prisoners of war prefer serious reading. The Red Cross reported that since war started 178,505 educational books, ranging from works on bottle washing to tomes on Assyro-Babylonian history, have been sent to prisoners in Germany.

Chief Medical Officer

This Railway Chief Surgeon Is Awarded High Honor

DR. K. E. DOWD,

Chief Medical Officer for the Canadian National Railways, has received recognition of his professional services from the American College of Surgeons. At the annual meeting of the Board held recently in Chicago a fellowship in the college was formally conferred in absentia. This Fellowship is considered a coveted honor by the medical profession.

Under the direction of Dr. Dowd as Chief Medical Officer, the Canadian National Railways employ on full or part-time duty a staff of 640 doctors in Canada and the United States. Medical clinics are operated in the larger centres such as Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Detroit, Michigan, for examination of employees and treatment of accidental injuries.

Dr. Dowd was recently elected an Associate Fellow in the Aero Medical Association of the United States in recognition of his work in the specialty of aviation medicine.

Dr. Dowd is also Chief Medical Officer for Trans-Canada Air Lines and holds an appointment as Honorary Wing Commander with the R.C.A.F., acting as medical consultant in civil aviation to the R.C.A.F., medical consultant to the R.A.F. Transport Command, and has charge of medical services in Canada for the British Overseas Airways Corporation.

A native of Quyon, Pontiac, Quebec, Dr. Dowd graduated from McGill in 1925.

RELATED NEWS

The Finnish radio says, "Barring a sensational development in German submarine technique, the Allies appear to have won the battle of the Atlantic."

Buy War Savings Stamps Regularly

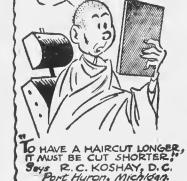

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

PLAYING CDS

COPR. 1942 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.
T.M. REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

THE RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR

IN 1904-05, WAS THE FIRST WAR IN WHICH BATTLE SHIPS KILLED MORE MEN THAN DID DISEASE.

7-10

Wise Eating

Cheese On Cereal Is Recommended By Dr. L. B. Pett

In a booklet called "Wise Eating in wartime," published by the British Ministry of Information, Dr. Charles Hill recommends toasted cheese as a breakfast dish for Britons.

No suggestion that is radically different from established eating habits is likely to meet with immediate acceptance, so Dr. Hill goes on to point out that the idea of cheese as a breakfast food is no more peculiar, and a lot sounder, nutritionally, than giving small boys beer for breakfast. This, not so long ago was customary in English boarding schools and was accepted by parents as a matter of course.

In certain parts of Canada cheese is used as breakfast food being served grated or finely chopped on porridge and taking the place of sugar.

"For those who are working outside in cold winter weather or engaged heavy manual work, the use of grated cheese on hot cereal is a practice we recommend," says Dr. L. B. Pett, director of Nutrition Services at Ottawa. Dr. Pett points out that this use of cheese increases the staying power of the breakfast and provides added nourishment.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 30

JESUS USES HIS POWER TO HELP

Golden text: Why are ye fearful? have ye not yet faith? Mark 4:40. Lesson: Mark 4:35-5:43. Devotional Reading: Isaiah 9:1-7.

Great Experiences and Comments

A Great Storm and a Great Calm, Mark 4:35-41. All day long Jesus had been preaching, and there had been no time for rest. When night came he said to his disciples, "Let us go over unto the other side." The other side of the lake where there were no habitations. They obeyed, taking with them the boat, "even as he was." What an insight into the humanness of Jesus—that little phrase—even as he was—gives us! The day had been severe in its demands upon his physical strength, and he was nearly spent with weariness, he took back in the stern and fell into a sleep so deep that when the wind began to rise and the waves to roar, when the boat began to fill and the disciples cried out in their excitement, he still slept on.

Suddenly there arose a great wind storm, and the waves came into the boat so that it began to fill. There have always been sudden and violent storms on the Sea of Galilee.

I experienced a similar though they thought the people were frantic with fear. They had been battling with the elements and losing, and they shouted to Jesus, "Teacher, carest thou not that we perish?" He arose and rebuked the wind and the sea. "Be still." The Greek word translated "still" means literally "muzzled"; he spoke to the sea as though to a raging animal. And the wind ceased, and there was a great calm.

"Why are ye fearful?" sadly Jesus questioned the disciples, "have ye not yet faith?" not yet, after having seen my power exercised so many times?

Many a follower of the Christ thinks he has faith, but his lack of it in times of storm and stress. They need to hear the Master saying, Have ye not yet faith? "A well-regulated mind is a mind that is stored with information and that knows exactly where to find each of its ingredients when the time comes. A well-regulated faith is a soul richly endowed with faith, and that knows exactly where to find it when occasion for its use arises."

A Demoniac Restored to Sanity, Mark 5:1-20. Jairus' Daughter Restored to Life, Mark 5:21-43.

WELL ANSWERED

Everything about the R.A.F. station was interesting to the visitor, and he asked a never-ending stream of questions.

"Say," he claimed, "how is it that you have so many Scotsmen among your pilots?"

The guide, a bit fed up, snatched at the opportunity.

"Well, sir," he said, "since the Scots have learned that every cloud has a silver lining, we can't keep 'em out."

An automobile speedometer will not register properly unless the tire pressure is up to the specified point.

Just An Experiment

U.S. War Department Used Sea Water In Making Bread

The United States war department announces that a formula has been developed for substituting sea water and salt in making bread.

Taking samples of sea water from the oceans off California, Virginia, Florida and Washington, the chemists strained them to remove algae, seaweed and sand. The water then was treated with calcium hypochlorite to purify it. The technicians used 62 parts of salt water instead of 60 parts of fresh water and two parts of salt.

The sea-water bread showed only a slight variation from bread made according to the standard recipe in texture, grain, flavor and crumb color.

Britain now grows her own domestic sugar ration.

The School Brigade

Hitler Youth Organization Trained To Join Army

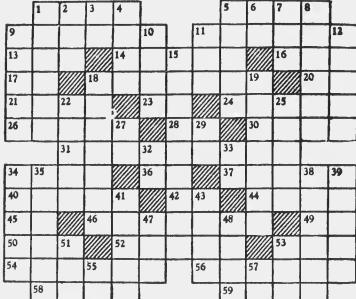

A dispatch to the Swedish newspaper Ny Dagligt Allehanda said that members of the Hitler Youth organization were being urged to join the German Army as volunteers. This latest indication of the Reich's need for Army recruits came as the newspaper Aftondidningen said it had learned that 15-year-old members of the Hitler Youth were being trained in cavalry units for front line service when they become sixteen.

Germany is reorganizing her cavalry, a move that apparently reflects the Russian effective use of mounted troops on the eastern front.

Of course air travel is safer than motoring. You have four ways to dodge a fool pilot but only two to dodge a fool motorist.

X-X OUR CROSSWORD PUZZLE X-X

No. 4865

HORIZONTAL

- 45 Teutonic deity
- 1 Allurement
- 5 Tatlers
- 9 Travelled through
- 11 Hippo-potches
- 13 Noah's boat
- 14 Criophs
- 16 Vampires
- 17 Pronoun
- 18 Refers
- 20 Indo-Chinese language
- 21 Tropical tree
- 23 Exists
- 24 Step
- 26 Teats cottonwood
- 28 Stems for coloring
- 30 Iterative device
- 31 Con-tent
- 32 Solar disk
- 34 Four
- 40 Astringent powder
- 42 Mental image

- 11 To spread for drying
- 12 To crease
- 13 Sheet in which a pattern is cut
- 15 Russian
- 16 Colorless gas
- 18 Sheet
- 22 Fastened
- 25 To rip up a state
- 27 Sacred Hindu word
- 29 Article
- 31 Baby type
- 33 Babylonian deity
- 34 Mohammedan prince
- 35 Mad
- 38 To have reference
- 39 Dins out
- 41 To weaken
- 44 Woady plant
- 47 Napoleon
- 48 Jason's ship
- 51 Chitine
- 53 Footlike part
- 55 Shan-shan river
- 67 Note of scale

Answer to No. 4864

M	A	S	L	T	I	M	B	A	S	E	M
A	R	C	A	P	E	R	B	A	L	I	T
R	I	A	D	O	L	T	I	C	A	C	A
L	A	R	E	S	O	E	O	I	N	T	A
G	U	E	S	N	T	A	T	O	L	I	L

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

By Fred Neher

"I told Pop if the government didn't step in and freeze arithmetic grades . . . I'm sunk!!"

BY GENE BYRNES

REG'LAR FELLERS—"Pull-It" Proof

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

"Cherry Pie"By —
JEAN CAMERON
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Glimming in, Jean saw that even at this late hour the Automat was still crowded. She would have to share a table. She pulled the belt of her light coat tighter, plunged her hand deep into her pocket. A dime—a nickel for coffee tonight, a nickel for the subway tomorrow morning. At noon she would receive her first salary check.

The thought sent a warmth through her which even coffee could not duplicate. She slid the worn surface of the change desk; took her two nickels. She watched the cream, then the coffee, fill her cup, and turned to a nearby table.

She was not surprised to see that a well-dressed man sat opposite her. The changing crowd was one of the Automat's attractions, and the diners near her had ranged all the way from a fussy lady in fur, unfamiliar with the counters, to couples who had preferred tables and nodded smilingly at the change man. This gray-haired gentleman might well be one of her firm's prominent customers.

"Lots of out-of-town people tonight," she thought. She had made a game of guessing which ones were native New Yorkers. One had to have something like that to think about to relieve one's mind, if only for a short while, when looking so desperately for a job—hoping, praying that the next phone call would be from the agency.

Again the warmth that swept over her was not from the coffee she was sipping. She had a job, had had it for two weeks. The joy of having a place to hurry to when you awoke in the morning, of entering and saying happily, "Good morning." The delight of abandoning the trips to the bureaus, the futile dashes across town in answer to ads! And receiving a salary, she reminded herself practically. Tomorrow would be her first pay day. The cup clattered in the saucer as she jubilantly set it down.

It hadn't been easy. She had been driven to think of returning to her aunt's, of spending the rest of her days in that dark little house, hearing a scolding tongue remind her of her obligations. But they had been so kind to her here. Mrs. McGonigan had cheered her up, encouraged her, waited patiently for her return. Now she was four weeks behind, and it made things difficult for the landlady, she knew. Tomorrow she could begin to pay her back, but she could never pay for the motherly advice, for the coffee and rolls every morning that were not included in the lodgings house advertisement.

She had just been able to make her small savings last two weeks without asking for an advance. One of the office girls would leave soon to be married, and Jean would then be given the chance as a typist instead of filing clerk. In the meantime she filed merrily, realizing how many opportunities for advancement there were in an office employing fifty stenographers.

Her coffee was half gone. She noticed that the man opposite her was not eating at all. He had shoved aside, almost untouched, a sandwich and salad and was staring in a strained manner at the thick piece of cherry pie before him. With nervous fingers he lighted a cigarette. She sighed. It seemed incredible that anyone could leave food uneaten. For over a week she had had only one meal a day beside Mrs. McGonigan's breakfasts. Then this noon one of the girls in the office had taken her to lunch, without a word to indicate she had noticed Jean's remaining in the coat-room during the noon hour. She would remember kindnesses like that.

The man pushed his plate away from him, pushed his chair in his chair. Jean's heart bounded. She was not undeniably hungry—but he had not touched the pie, and if he left it... He glanced at her, as he had done several times in the past few minutes. Her bright eager eyes were fastened on the plate. He rose, casually slipped on a tailored top-coat, then, taking his half-burned cigarette, deliberately plunged it deep into the pie. There was a faint mist from the cherry juice. Jean's face reddened. Tears welled in her eyes....

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

The Fork-Lift Truck

Unloads Mountains Of Supplies From Freighters In Record Time

Freighters at Allied overseas ports are unloaded in record time by a muscular little vehicle that moves mountains of supplies. The U.S. War Department announced. Un glamorously called the fork-lift truck, this weapon of war seldom sees battle, yet has received credit for much of the success of the North African invasion. As a factor in military operations, fork-lift trucks were unknown until the outbreak of the war. Now the Quartermaster Corps is supplying them by tens of thousands to all branches of the Army.

Before the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1885, a letter posted in Victoria took three weeks to reach Toronto.

Proves Its Worth

Helicopter Made Trip Which Was Impossible For Other Planes

A few days ago, a helicopter plane gave a dramatic demonstration of the practical utility of this type of craft in time of emergency. A United States destroyer exploded and sank off Sandy Hook. Among the survivors were many wounded men, badly in need of blood plasma. All other aircraft were grounded by sleet and heavy snow squalls, but a Coast Guard aviator took off in an experimental helicopter from Floyd Bennett Field and landed it on the Battery in New York. Fourteen minutes later it settled gently on the beach at Sandy Hook, with two cases of blood plasma for the survivors of the explosion.

The plasma was rushed to the hospital and immediately administered. Delivery of this life-saving fluid and equipment by boat would have taken at least an hour; by car, over an hour and a half. And minutes count when wounded men await the plasma which will give them their best chance of survival. So the helicopter may easily have saved lives by being airworthy when all other craft were landbound. Yet its commander termed the flight a "routine operation."

Perhaps it was routine for this odd-looking rotary-winged machine which is the "pet" of Igor Sikorsky. However, it proved in convincing manner how the helicopter can land in tiny spaces under conditions of visibility which make impossible all other methods of flying—Ottawa Citizen.

She had just been able to make her small savings last two weeks without asking for an advance. One of the office girls would leave soon to be married, and Jean would then be given the chance as a typist instead of filing clerk. In the meantime she filed merrily, realizing how many opportunities for advancement there were in an office employing fifty stenographers.

Her coffee was half gone. She noticed that the man opposite her was not eating at all. He had shoved aside, almost untouched, a sandwich and salad and was staring in a strained manner at the thick piece of cherry pie before him. With nervous fingers he lighted a cigarette. She sighed. It seemed incredible that anyone could leave food uneaten. For over a week she had had only one meal a day beside Mrs. McGonigan's breakfasts. Then this noon one of the girls in the office had taken her to lunch, without a word to indicate she had noticed Jean's remaining in the coat-room during the noon hour. She would remember kindnesses like that.

The man pushed his plate away from him, pushed his chair in his chair. Jean's heart bounded. She was not undeniably hungry—but he had not touched the pie, and if he left it... He glanced at her, as he had done several times in the past few minutes. Her bright eager eyes were fastened on the plate. He rose, casually slipped on a tailored top-coat, then, taking his half-burned cigarette, deliberately plunged it deep into the pie. There was a faint mist from the cherry juice. Jean's face reddened. Tears welled in her eyes....

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

"And you've decided to have the operation, Mr. Carter? Good! I've told you repeatedly everything's in your favor."

The gray-haired man with the strained look winced. "I'll have to take your word for it till it's over, Doctor," he said firmly. "I feel better now that I've come to a decision and ended this uncertainty. I have everything to live for, you've kept telling me, if I'd take care of myself in time. Perhaps I almost came to another decision today, Doctor. I was so worn out with thinking of this and business worries. I took the sleeping powder you gave me and spread it on the cherries in a piece of pie—all of it. I was going to make my exit sweetly, like the ancients. But I saw a girl near me, a poor girl, a hungry girl, yet she must have been happy, for she was smiling. And I said to myself, 'I am not poor, I am not hungry, and I can be courageous, too.' So here I am." He sighed. "I wish I could have left her the pie, instead of spoiling it."

TOWN OF COLEMAN FINANCIAL STATEMENT

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31st, 1943

216-7 P. Burns Building,
Calgary, Alberta,
24th January, 1944.

The Mayor and Councillors,
The Town of Coleman, Alberta.

Gentlemen:

I beg to advise in accordance with your instructions and the requirements of the Town and Village Act of Alberta, I have audited the accounts and records of the Town of Coleman for the twelve months ended 31 December, 1943, and, in addition to completing the printed Report Form required by the Province of Alberta, I have prepared the attached Cash Statement, Revenue Statement, and Balance Sheet for your information.

The Cash Statement deals only with actual cash transactions completed within the calendar year, therefore the cash balance shown thereon does not indicate the actual operating surplus for the period. The Revenue Statement deals with all the items relating to the calendar year regardless as to whether such transactions were actually completed when the cash books were closed on 31st December, 1943. This Revenue Statement shows that after providing $2,000.00 for Annual Depreciation Allowance for the Fixed Assets owned by the Town, the Town was operated during the year at a Surplus of $47.47.

The Surplus Account listed in the Balance Sheet actually is smaller in amount than as at 31 December, 1942. This is due to fact that during 1943 there was $772.50 of old Tax Arrears ordered cancelled from the Tax Roll; this amount, therefore, is a direct charge against the Surplus Account.

You will note that while Tax Collections were only some $100.00 less in 1943 than in 1942, yet the Town Tax Receipts were $627.11 less in 1943, while Expenses were $16,017.54 in 1943 compared with $14,632.42 in 1942. This increase in 1943 was due largely to the increased expenditure in 1943 for Public Works.

From the Balance Sheet you will note that the affairs of the Town are in a very satisfactory condition, there being Cash and Securities on hand at 31 December, 1943, totalling $14,830.13, against Current Accounts Payable of $229.87. In addition Town Arrears have been reduced to $4,857.92 as at 31 December, 1943, which represents about 36% of the current levy, while Depreciation Reserve for Fixed Assets now represents some 88% of the cost value of the Fixed Assets.

I beg to report that on each of my visits to the Town Office in 1943 I found the work up to date, the records in balance, and the cash properly accounted for and deposited into the Bank.

Subject to the foregoing I certify that, in my opinion, the attached Balance Sheet is properly drawn up to disclose a true and correct view of the affairs of the Town of Coleman as at 31 December, 1943, according to the best of my information, the explanations given to me and as shown by the records of the Town at Coleman, Alberta.

E. D. BATTRUM, Public Accountant.

THE TOWN OF COLEMAN CASH STATEMENT Year 1943

RECEIPTS	PAYMENTS
Town Tax	$16,837.94
School Tax	44,644.84
Government Tax	801.04
	$62,283.82
Licenses	365.75
Dog Tags	294.00
Bond and Bank Interest	492.90
Police Fines	171.00
Government Tax Commission	20.15
Rent—Hall and Garage	51.00
Building Permits	16.00
Refund re Truck expenses	15.50
Telephone refunds	10.86
Collected a/c Lycra	60.00
L.T.O. fees collected	6.00
Outdoor Rink a/c	75.00
Total Collections	$63,857.98
Bank Loan	1,000.00
Forwarded from 31 Dec., 1942	4,312.35
	$69,170.33

GENERAL
Secretary-treasurer	$ 834.88
Secretary's Bond	8.00
Solicitor's salary	150.00
Legal expenses	100.00
Legal account paid	467.25
Printing and Stationery	530.08
Election expense	2.50
Postage and Excise	90.76
M.D. Association Fee and expense	200.00
Assessment Fee and expense	1,045.56
L.T.O. fees	20.70
Land Tax	200.00
Government Tax paid	461.34
Paid School District	44,644.84
Water and Light expenses	50.00
Bank Charges and Interest	7.71
Bank Loan repaid	1,000.00
Overpaid Tax Refund	3.10
Victory Bonds bought	4,000.00
	54,071.71
Total Payments	$66,704.20
Balance at Bank 31 Dec., 1943	2,466.13
	TOTAL
	$69,170.33

TOWN OF COLEMAN REVENUE STATEMENT Year 1943

REVENUE	EXPENSES
General Receipts	$1,574.16
1943 Tax Levy	17,860.60
Penalties on Arrears	92.85
	$19,527.61
	TOTAL
	$19,527.61

BALANCE SHEET 31 December, 1943

ASSETS	LIABILITIES
Cash at Bank	$ 2,466.13
Deposit with Coleman Light & Water Co. Ltd.	14.00
Coleman Light & Water Co. Limited
3% Gold Bonds (cost)	4,000.00
Victory Bonds (cost)	8,350.00
Town Tax Arrears	4,857.92
Overpaid Trust Tax	2.60
Fire and Town Hall and site	8,774.50
Fire Equipment	5,133.19
Cement and Asphalt Paving	46,810.64
Red Trail Improvements	5,000.00
Public Works Truck	1,675.00
Snow Plough	645.40
Nuisance Ground	50.00
Outdoor Rink	521.75
New Park Improvements	900.00
Office Equipment	952.03
Police Cells	200.00
Trust Assets—
Government Tax Arrears	$ 806.15
School Tax Arrears	10,118.50
	TOTAL
	$100,777.81
	TOTAL
	$100,777.81

This is the Balance Sheet referred to in my report dated 24th January, 1944.

E. D. BATTRUM, Public Accountant.

Coleman School District No. 1216

ANNUAL

Financial Statement and Auditor's Report for the Year 1943

STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND PAYMENTS

RECEIPTS

Total Balance on Hand Jan. 1st,	$ 16,340.84
Outstanding Cheques from last year	472.88
Net Balance as at Jan. 1	$ 15,868.46
Taxes collected for current year, $40,248.17;
Arrears, $4,105.80;	$ 44,358.97
Government Grants received by Treasurer	4,458.20
Amt. Trustees borrowed by note during year	7,500.00
Tuition Fees	10.00
Received from other sources—
Educational Tax	$ 1,688.00
Sundry	1,356.37
	$ 3,044.37
Total Cash Receipts	$ 75,235.00

PAYMENTS

Teachers Salaries	$ 30,861.22
Paid Officials, Salaries, Secretary, Treasurer, Assessor, Auditor, etc.	$ 1,951.53
Paid on Account of Notes, $7,500.00; Int. $556.00	8,056.60
Paid for erecting and repairing school house, stable, outbuildings, etc.	1,068.91
Paid for Supplies, stationery, postage, chalk, brushes, pens, etc.	2,596.47
Paid for caretaking, $5,845.20; Fuel, Water	7,575.04
Light and Flane, $1,729.84	844.60
Paid for conveyance of pupils	389.00
Paid for Insurance
Paid for other purposes
W.C.B. Assessment	$ 53.75
Unemployment Ins. Stamps	77.76
Teachers' Retirement Fund	46.56
Sundry	1,544.43
	$ 1,722.50
Total Cash Payments	$ 55,064.87
Total Bank Balance	$ 20,977.02
Total Balance	20,977.02
Outstanding Cheques	806.89
Net Balance	20,170.13
Cash Book Balance as at December 31st, 1943	$ 20,170.13

I, Joseph Emmerson, hereby certify that I have examined all the books, vouchers, minutes of meetings, etc., of the Coleman S. D. No. 1216, of the Province of Alberta, for the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1943, and I further certify that I have counted the cash, and examined the Bank Book, or obtained information from the bank, regarding the bank balance, showing that there is a balance on hand as represented above.

J. EMMERSON

Official Auditor

Date of Audit: January 22, 1944

OUTSTANDING ACCOUNTS

Accounts which were due to the District on December 31st, 1943
Arrears	$ 10,118.50
Cash on hand and Total Bank Balance	$ 20,977.02
Total	$ 20,977.02
Amounts which were owed by district on December 31, 1943
Accounts payable	$ 431.71
Total Amount due and unpaid	$ 431.71

ASSETS AND LIABILITIES

December 31, 1943

ASSETS
Estimated value of Property owned by district
Land and Buildings	$ 132,293.91
Furniture, Apparatus, Maps, Supplies, etc.	13,519.47
Sidewalks	83.26
Water and Light Deposits	28.00
Total Taxes due district (as above)	10,118.50
Other Amounts due District as above	20,977.02
Total Assets	$ 177,020.16

LIABILITIES

Outstanding Accts. (total amount due and unpaid as shown above)	$ 431.71
Cheques outstanding	806.89
Notes outstanding	9,500.00
Total Liabilities	$ 10,738.60

PARTICULARS OF ASSESSMENT, TAXATION, ETC. FOR 1943

Total Assessed Value	$ 19,616.71
Rate of Taxation	26 Mills—General; 10 Mills—Farm Lands
Total Number of Ratepayers in Arrears	233
Total Number of resident ratepayers in arrears	112
Exact cost of operation of the school for the year,	$ 46,366.11

The property of the district is insured as follows: Buildings, $75,500.00; Furniture and equipment, $14,100.00. The policy expires at various times during 1944-45-46.

I hereby certify that the above information is in accordance with the books and records of Coleman School District No. 1216, of the Province of Alberta, and from the information given me I believe the same to be correct. I further certify that I have made a copy of this report for the School District Cash Book.

J. EMMERSON, Official Auditor
Coleman, Alberta
January 22, 1944

Plastic Materials

THERE ARE MANY REMINDERS at this time that we are living in a rapidly changing world. The war, with its great demands upon all our resources, has speeded up the rate of progress in many fields of endeavour. Science and medicine have made phenomenal advancement in the face of the necessities of war, and there have been equally great developments in many of our economic and social concepts. It is clear that the world will never again be as it was before the outbreak of the war and there is universal hope that the best of the benefits to mankind which have been brought into use to meet wartime emergencies, may be wisely used to make a better world in the years that lie ahead. One of the things which the war has taught, has been the great value of our natural resources, and the importance of using them wisely and economically. Scientists tell us that the Germans would long ago have made many products from the waste materials of our lumber industry, had they been in possession of the Canadian forests. The war has indeed brought home to many the possibilities of making use of materials which were formerly discarded and scientific research has thrown considerable light on this subject.

Plastics Now Widely Used

Shortages of many substances and the failure of some of those which are available to meet the requirements for war equipment, have led to efforts to develop new materials, both for combat purposes and for domestic use. In this connection, plastics have become well known as substitutes for metals, glass, and other essential materials. Although plastics are proving both useful and effective in many ways, scientists tell us that it is doubtful whether they will ever fulfill all the purposes which have been forecast for them in the popular concept of the "world of tomorrow." It has been pointed out that the word "plastic" is misleading, since it implies softness and malleability. On the contrary, there are plastics which are hard enough to adequately replace metals in aircraft, motor vehicles and other equipment. At the same time they are extremely light, which makes them valuable in substitution for metals in cases where lightness gives added speed. Transparent plastics have also replaced glass in airplanes, ships and other combat machines, since it has proven to be tougher than glass, and also shatterproof.

Research Work Is Encouraged

Canada has always been known as a land of plenty and her farm lands yield abundant supplies of food. The western provinces are among the greatest wheat-producing areas in the world, and it is unlikely that they will ever become less important in this respect. We are told that Canada's export shipments of wheat have been larger since the war than before, and that domestic utilization of wheat has also risen during the past four years. There is, too, no doubt of the important part that Canadian wheat will play in post war rehabilitation in many parts of the world. It has frequently been suggested, however, that efforts be made to develop certain types of crops in the West for industrial purposes, and it has been recommended that research be done here in this connection. It is already known that oats, soy beans, and corn stalks are used in making plastics, and that the fibrous stalks of some grains and plants make excellent wall board and insulation. It has been suggested that rubber or waterproof materials might be developed from the gummy portions of some plants grown here, and that science might find many uses for straw, now frequently disposed of by burning. Canadian scientists are giving much thought to these subjects and recommendations have been made before the House of Commons Reconstruction Committee. It is possible that the future will bring interesting developments along these lines.

KINDLY ACT

The Pictou Highlanders have "adopted" a little crippled girl in eastern Canada, and are paying for expert medical attention in an effort to cure the affliction that has injured her legs.

Britain has supplied the United States with two of her newest inventions, the radiolocator and the astrophot.

New Improved Prescription quickly relieves distressing BRONCHIAL COUGHS-COLDS Just a few sips and— like a flash—RELIEF SLEEP SOUND ALL NIGHT

Now you can get amazingly fast relief from the strangled cough and clogged bronchial tubes. Just get after them with new improved Buckley's Mixture—the largest selling cough and cold remedy. This great prescription is all medication—no syrup and really does crack down fast! You'll feel your cough loosening, the tough choking phlegm beginning to come up easier after the first few sips. So don't suffer coughing distress another day. Buckley's gives relief—fast.

IT'S BETTER IT'S BUCKLEY'S THAT'S WHY

"MIDDLE-AGE" WOMEN (38-52 yrs. old)

NEED THIS ADVICE!!

If you're cross, restless, nervous, suffer hot flashes, dizziness—caused by the period in a woman's life. Try Lysol Compound. It's a safe, natural compound. Made especially for women. Hundreds of thousands recommend it. Follow label directions. Made in Canada.

Has Been Increased

Objective For Marketing Sheep And Lambs Is Higher

Objectives for the marketing of sheep and lambs of Canadian farms and ranches in 1944, as determined by the Dominion-Provincial Agricultural Conference recently held in Ottawa, call for a five per cent. increase as compared with 1943. In response to the wartime program calling for more wool, mutton, and lamb, the numbers of sheep have considerably increased, and therefore increased marketings in 1943 are considered probable and desirable, states the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada. It has also been suggested that producers might well consider feeding lambs to an average of up to 5 lbs. greater weight before marketing. The 1944 objective for production of shorn wool calls for 14 million lbs. (greasy basis), which is a small increase over the 1943 output of 13.6 million lbs. With military requirements for wool now somewhat less linked with an improved shipping position in the Pacific, less concern is now felt with respect to reserve stocks of wool.

FARMER EXPLAINS

"Oh what a strange-looking cow!" exclaimed the sweet young city lass. "But why hasn't she any horns?" "Well, you see," explained the farmer, "some cows are born without horns and never had any, and others shed theirs, and some we deform, and some breeds aren't supposed to have horns at all. There's a lot of reasons why some cows ain't got horns, but the reason why that cow ain't got horns is because she ain't a cow—she's a horse!"

A cartoonist, to keep up with events, has to be "quick on the draw."

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—There was a good supply of canned milk in my grocer's this week, but he refused to sell it to me without coupons.

A.—Yes, this is correct . . . effective November 29, 1943, sales of evaporated milk are prohibited in certain restricted areas except to holders of "G" coupons. "G" coupons for the purchase of milk may be obtained for children under two years of age who require it in a formula, by applying to the Local Ration Board. For persons over this age, applications must be accompanied by a medical certificate specifying the need.

Q.—My daughter became 12 years of age, December 17, 1943. How can I secure tea rations for her?

A.—As your daughter did not begin to receive ration books on September 1, 1943, she will not be eligible for tea ration coupons until the next ration books are issued.

Q.—How do I, as a farmer, go about getting lumber for use in repairing my house? The lower prices recently announced?

A.—Provided you do not buy such lumber in excess of $200 in value, 10 per cent. in this bill will be deducted from your favor by your dealer with whom you buy lumber in the form of a government subsidy. This arrangement applies only to sales of soft wood, laths, shingles and posts over $10 and under $200 in value. On sales over $200 the approval of the Timber Controller is required.

Q.—I work in a small town and recently purchased a trapping license. May I use this license to get ammunition for deer shooting?

A.—No. When purchasing an ammunition license you must sign a declaration to the effect that any ammunition you receive will be used only for trapping purposes. To use this ammunition for sporting purposes would be contrary to the regulations.

Q.—I expect a number of men to stay for some days on my farm while engaged in wood cutting. Can I secure extra rations for them?

A.—Yes. Extra rations for temporary help on farms during the winter months when needed may be obtained by making application to your Local Ration Board, as was the case with temporary help during the harvesting season.

Please send your questions or comments to the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book (the book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices) mentioning the name of that paper to wartime Prices and Trade Board, Regina, Saskatchewan.

Nearly Leaked Out

Snow Boy's Model Nearly Let Out Jet Plane Secret

The secret of the jet-propelled plane nearly leaked out—and through a small boy with a model plane.

An officer somewhere in the Midlands came across a group of small boys playing with model planes. At first he watched with interest and then—with dismay, for one boy had a model plane without any propellers. It was an excellent model of the secret jet-propelled plane of which the pilot knew nothing. The officer confiscated the plane and questioned the boy's father. The father, who had worked on Britain's "secret weapon," admitted thoughtlessly making a model for his son.

The model was destroyed and the father sternly warned.

WILLING TO OBLIGE

On one of the fast trains of the Canadian National Railways, a lady was trying to get into an upper berber the porter could not find the ladder. "Lady," he said, "I have been a porter for 18 years and this is the first time I've ever lost my ladder. I had it right here a minute ago."

An English sailor popped his head out of an upper and said, "I'll lend you my ladder until morning!" He had the ladder in the berth with him. —Wall Street Journal.

Many a heart catches fire from the flicker of an eyelash!

LACTIS-ORA FOR INSURES A CLEAN HEALTHY GUMS MOUTH

BLEEDING GUMS

Dentists have been using LACTIS-ORA for over 15 years in the treatment of sore, bleeding, inflamed, pyorrhous and infected gum conditions. Tighten loose teeth and makes a healthy mouth. You can easily treat yourself.

Approved Proprietary Medicines Act.

SEND TODAY REAUD LABORATORIES POSTPAID CALGARY - ALBERTA

ITCH STOPPED

For quick relief from itching of skin, pimples, abscesses, scabs, scabies, rashes and other externally caused irritations. Pyorrhous, infected and septic, liquid D. D. D. Prescription. Creosolized, soaks, bathes irritation and quickly stops intense itching. 32 oz. tube. Price 25¢. Send today for free prescription today for D.D.D. PRESCRIPTION.

A cartoonist, to keep up with events, has to be "quick on the draw."

Millions Of Charts

Supplied To All Allied Ships By Factory In England

Sometime ago we published an editorial on "Maps by the Million," these being maps for landing forces in all parts of the world. The corollary of that is charts for the navies, and it is also interesting to learn that millions of charts have been populated by the Hydrographic Supplies Department of the Royal Navy for all ships of the Allied navies and mercantile marine.

There is a factory "somewhere in England" where the charts are run off the presses, and as the headquarters of the department are alongside the plant, it is a simple matter for an authorized messenger, who may be a Wren, to call for a specific portfolio or charts for one of the ships of the navy and carry them away. This factory turns out about 5,000,000 charts a year. When 3,000 ships were mustered for the invasion of Sicily, charts were supplied in hundreds of tons. When the big invasion comes, the thousands of ships will have charts for every part of the European coast where landings may be made.

There are special charts for submarines which also show the temperature and density of the waters they are to operate in. There are also special charts for use in life-boats, printed on waterproof paper and wrapped in oilskin.

Changes have constantly to be made in the charts because of the minefields and sunken ships. Most of the corrections are made by girls who have acquired remarkable skill at this work and make the changes with great rapidity, one girl making as many as 4,000 changes in one week. These girls are specially selected from art schools and but for the war they might have been drawing fashions.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Royal Bank Report

Vice-President And General Manager Says Bank Business At High Level

In reviewing the bank's balance sheet, Mr. Sydney G. Dobson, vice-president and general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, said that the volume of business passing through the bank's books had been unprecedented during the past year. Total assets now exceed $1,500,000,000, an all-time high in the history of the bank.

Reviewing at length the part played by the banks in assisting the country's war financing, he continued:

"There appears to be a misconception in the minds of some people that the banks purchase a substantial portion of the Government public issues and increase their earnings in this manner. This is not the case. During 1942 two Victory Loans were issued, realizing $2,692,000,000. The 4th Victory Loan floated in May last was purchased by 2,669,000 subscribers and the 5th Victory Loan in October, by over 3,000,000. In neither loan did the banks buy bonds for their own account. While there is naturally some change in the holdings of the original subscribers relatively only an unimportant amount found its way into the banks."

"In common with the other banks, we have done everything possible to make these Victory Loans a success. Managers have encouraged customers to subscribe or to increase their subscriptions. All depositors considered capable of subscribing for an amount of $50 or more have been written to and advertisements have been inserted in the press urging depositors to subscribe to the full extent of their ability."

GEMS OF THOUGHT

HUMILITY

Lowliness of heart is real dignity, and humility is the brightest jewel in the Christian's crown.—Bond.

The doctrines of grace humble man without degrading, and exalt without inflating him.—Charles Hodge.

Trees the most lovingly shelter and shade us when, like the willow, the higher soar their summits, the lower droop their boughs.—Bulwer-Lytton.

Love is not puffed up; and the meek and loving, God anoints and appoints to lead the line of mankind's triumphant march out of the wilderness, out of darkness into light.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Humility enforces where neither virtue, nor strength, nor reason can prevail.—Quarles.

Humility is to make a right estimate of one's self. It is no humility for a man to think less of himself than he ought, though it might rather puzzle him to do that.—C. H. Surgeon.

THE FAMOUS OLD COUGH REMEDY FOR ALL AGES

VENO'S COUGH SYRUP

QUICK RELIEF FOR COUGHS—COLDS BRONCHITIS . . . ASTHMA WHOOPING COUGH CATARRHAL ASTHMA SIMPLE SORE THROAT

DON'T DELAY—
BUY A BOTTLE TODAY!

CHILDREN LOVE VENO'S

Large Supply Available

Argentina, Australia And Canada Have Surplus Wheat For Export

It is harvest time in Argentina and Australia and current estimates of the combined wheat crop total 388 million bushels, or approximately the amount produced by these two countries a year ago. The exportable surplus from such a crop would be 225 million bushels and this must be added to the carry-over of old wheat which amounts to 153 million bushels in Australia and 122 million bushels in Argentina. This makes a surplus over normal domestic requirements of approximately 500 million bushels available for export in 1944. When the surplus of Canada is added, the supply available for export exceeds one billion bushels in three of the four major exporting countries.

SMILE AWHILE

"Is Mary your eldest sister?"
"Yes."
"And who comes after her?"
"You and two other fellows."

Jones: "I hear you bought a car cheap the other day. How are you getting on with it?"
Smith: "I'm just realizing how hard it is to drive a bargain."

"It's a bit of a honic tonic, dear."
"Oh, that's very nice of you, darling."

"Yes, I want you to give to your typist at the office, her hair is coming out rather badly on your coat."

Magistrate: "So you and your wife have had another fight. Liquor as usual, I suppose?"
Alfred: "No, Your Worship, she hit me."

Gertie: "I wonder why so many widows succeed in marrying a second time."

Bertie: "I suggest that the answer is—'Because dead men tell no tales.'"

What are you doing at the university?"
"Taking medicine."
"Feeling better?"

Son: "What is executive ability, father?"
Father: "Executive ability, my boy, is the art of getting the credit for all the hard work somebody else does."

Nurse: "Why are you eating off your knife, Bobby?"
Bobby: "Cos my fork leaks."

Mistress (to new maid): "Now, Norah, when you wait on the guests at dinner, please don't spill anything."

Norah: "No ma'am, I won't say a word."

Daughter: But he has too many bad habits!

Mother: I know it, but think of the good time you'll have making him give them up.

WAS PARTICULAR

An old darkey who worked on a plantation was walking along a dusty road talking earnestly to himself.

A neighbor called to him and said:

"Hey, there, Uncle Henry, why are you talking to yourself?"

The darkey laid down his sack and scratched his white head with the tip of his fingers.

"Fust," he replied, "fust, I like to hear a smart man talk, and next, I like to talk to a smart man."

A bachelor is a man who never Mrs. anyone.

Should Order Now

Advice To Growers Who Require Certified Seed Potatoes

Supplies of Foundation and Foundation A seed for seed potato growers, and a Certified seed for table stock growers, are being held in Canada to meet estimated domestic demands, the Dominion Department of Agriculture states. Export demand for Canadian Foundation, Foundation A, and Certified seed potatoes is, however, exceptionally strong this season, and the Department advises potato growers to order their 1944 seed potato requirements without delay. In fairness to producers, and in the interests of the industry, the export of seed potatoes will be permitted after March 1, while export markets are still active.

The main objective of the Seed Potato Certification Service, states the Department, is to assist in the production of high quality seed for Canadian potato growers, but it is essential that orders should be placed while supplies are still available.

Lists of growers having Certified, Foundation A, or Foundation seed potatoes for sale can be obtained from the Plant Protection Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

For Eczema—Skin Troubles

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well. Go to any good druggist today and get a jar of Moonee's Emerald Oil—it lasts many days because it is highly concentrated.

The first application will give you relief—the itching of Eczema is quickly relieved. The same is true of Itching Toes and Feet, Barber's Rash, Ringworm, etc.

Remember that Moonee's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful penetrating Antiseptic and disinfectant. It does not stain or leave a greasy residue. Complete satisfaction or money back.

Tale Of Two Cities

The Bombing Of London And Also Of Berlin

December 29 is remembered in Britain as the date in 1940 when the Nazis tried to burn the heart of the City of London—and succeeded to a remarkable degree, considering that they dropped only about 350 tons of bombs mostly incendiaries.

Dec. 29, 1943, may be remembered in Germany as the date when the R.A.F. dropped 2,250 tons of bombs on Berlin.

12 Branburgers from a pound of beef

All-Bran "Branburgers"

1 egg 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

2 teaspoons salt 2/3 cup cream

2 teaspoons pepper 1/2 cup bran

1/2 cup onions minced onion

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

1/2 cup onions

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

1/2 cup onions

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

1/2 cup onions

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

1/2 cup onions

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

1/2 cup onions

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

1/2 cup onions

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

1/2 cup onions

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

1/2 cup onions

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

1/2 cup onions

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

1/2 cup onions

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

1/2 cup onions

1/2 cup mushrooms

1/2 cup green beans

1/2 cup carrots

1/2 cup peas

1/2 cup corn

IMPORTANT ATLANTIC CONVOY ATTACKED BY SUBMARINES WAS RESCUED BY NAVY AND AIRCRAFT

LONDON.—German planes using new radio-controlled glider bombs and a swarm of U-boats attacked an important Atlantic convoy recently but were decisively defeated with damage to only two of the convoy's ships, an admiralty-air ministry communiqué disclosed.

Three ships of the Royal Canadian Navy and an R.C.A.F. coastal command aircraft joined with ships of the Royal Navy and R.A.F. and United States aircraft in the action which took place west of the Portuguese and French coasts.

The battle in all its phases lasted four days and three nights. At least one submarine was sunk, two probably were sunk and several others were damaged and a number of big enemy bombers were shot down. The R.C.N. corvettes Calgary and Snowberry with the R.N. frigate Nene, shared in destruction of one U-boat.

H.M.C.S. Prince Robert, now converted into an auxiliary anti-aircraft cruiser, shared in the latter part of the action when the Nazi aircraft attacked with glider bombs.

British and Canadian warships were rushed to the scene from all directions to protect the convoy, the first attacked by long-range German bombers in more than a year. R.A.F. and United States planes were flown into the area from Gibraltar, the newly-obtained bases in the Azores and from Britain.

The action took place "some weeks ago," the communiqué said, starting as the convoy was proceeding northward about midway between the Azores and the coast of Portugal.

Allied planes from Gibraltar and the Azores first joined the action, driving off German planes shadowing the convoy. In pre-dawn darkness, they illuminated the surface, dropping patterns of depth charges. Oil patches appeared on the surface several times.

WILL BE NEW TYPE

Canadian Freighter To Be Built In British Columbia Shipyards

VANCOUVER.—A "new type" Canadian freighter will be built in British Columbia shipyards under the 1944 program, shipping officials said. Although details are lacking, they said it would be a combination of previous types built in Canada since the war began. New keels will be laid around the middle of August when existing contracts begin to run out.

SEE FIRST MOVIE

NORTH BAY, Ont.—The Dionne quint saw their first movie recently. The five little girls, who will be 10 years old in May come to North Bay to see "Lassie Come Home." They were accompanied by their parents.

EXPENDITURES ARE AUTHORIZED FOR SUM TO EQUALIZE RETURNS TO WESTERN HOG PRODUCERS

OTTAWA.—Expenditures for extending $75,000 to equalize returns to western producers whose hogs have been shipped east for slaughter since Oct. 1 due to congestion in prairie packing plants are authorized under an order-in-council published.

In suggesting the appropriation to treasury board, Agriculture Minister Gardner said prairie hog production had more than doubled since the start of the war and heavy marketings were temporarily in excess of slaughtering and processing capacity of western plants, especially during the fall months.

Eastern hog production had shown a relatively small gain, and plant facilities were not operating at full capacity when the west had difficulty handling all marketing received.

Mr. Gardner said shipment of hogs from Western Canada to the east for slaughter resulted in a lower return to certain producers because of discrepancy in freight rates for export bacon as compared with domestic freight rates on live hogs together with extra expense due to shrinkage and handling. Payment will be made through the Canadian meat board.

2552

MILITARY MISSION

London Surprised to Find British liaison Officer Was a Canadian

LONDON.—Identification of Maj. William Jones of Toronto as a British liaison officer with Marshal Josip Broz (Tito), leader of the Yugoslav Partisans, came as a surprise in some London quarters where it had been believed Jones was the "nom de guerre" for Brig. Fitzroy Maclean.

When Maclean was identified by Foreign Secretary Eden last month as the leader of the British military mission to Tito, friends of the 32-year-old member of parliament thought he also was "Maj. William Jones" whom the Germans had been seeking with a price on his head, since last summer.

Now, however, it turns out that Jones is a white-haired, one-eyed Canadian who joined the British army and rose from the ranks to a commission after he was rejected when he sought to join the Canadian army at the outbreak of war.

Identifying Maclean during his house of commons speech Dec. 14 after the Cairo and Teheran conference, Eden did not connect him with Jones. He merely recalled that in the spring of 1943 Britain decided to ask Tito to receive a British military mission.

"He consented and British officers have been with him ever since," the foreign secretary said. "Our mission has been aims is under the leadership of a member of this house, Brig. Maclean, who has established most excellent relations with Gen. Tito."

Friends of the Conservative member for Lancaster immediately hoped on to the disclosure, put two and two together—but as it turned out they got five.

ISLAND FORTRESS

Civilians Have Been Evacuated From Heligoland

LONDON.—The Berlin radio said that all civilians have been evacuated from Heligoland, the German North sea island fortress of the First Great War which they are generally believed to have refortified in defiance of the Versailles treaty.

Commanding the mouths of the Weser and Elbe rivers, the island is a defensive outpost for Hamburg, Bremen and Cuxhaven and for the Kiel canal. Its population is estimated at 2,500.

The island has been the target for at least one daylight raid by R.A.F. bombers since the beginning of this war.

DESTROYER IS LOST

LONDON.—The admiralty announced the loss of the destroyer Tyndale, a new ship completed in 1940. A member of the Hunt class, the Tyndale displaced 904 tons and was armed with four four-inch anti-aircraft guns and eight smaller guns. No further details were available.

ONE OF THE FIVE

NORTH BAY, Ont.—The Dionne quint saw their first movie recently.

The five little girls, who will be 10 years old in May come to North Bay to see "Lassie Come Home." They were accompanied by their parents.

SURVEY PARTIES HAVE MADE START ON A NEW AIR ROUTE TO ALASKA ON CANADIAN SOIL

China Gets Anti-Tank Gun From Canadians

Believe Cause Of Bomber Crash In Nova Scotia

DIGBY, N.S.—A twin-engine bomber crashed on a road outside this town, landing squarely on a parked truck and crumpling it into wreckage.

Three persons were injured—the two men in the plane and a man who was running from the truck as the crash came. All were taken to hospital here in serious condition.

It was not known here where the plane came from, but it was understood it was forced down by a shortage of fuel.

As the plane came down, Charles Dobbins was struck by a portion of the wing. Allison Merritt, standing on the truck, jumped to safety a few seconds before it was buried beneath the bomber.

MORE NAVAL BASES

WASHINGTON.—The House of Representatives sent to the White House a bill authorizing expenditure of $281,000,000 for expansion of United States naval aviation facilities on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts.

New Home Chief

CASUALTIES HEAVY

Unofficial Tabulation Shows They Were Much Higher in January

OTTAWA.—Unofficial tabulation of Canadian army casualty lists, issued since the last official report covering the period from the start of the Italian campaign to Nov. 23, confirms a London despatch Jan. 17—passed by British censors—from Ross Muor, Canadian Press war correspondent, that casualties in the Moro valley and Ortona battles in December were heavy.

Within the last four weeks casualties have been roughly three times greater than in the previous four weeks. The comparative figures are 284 for the four weeks ended Dec. 21, compared with 665 for a similar period ended Jan. 18. This was an indication of the rising tempo of the Italian campaign which began September 3.

HELD RECEPTION

Sir William Mulock Celebrated His 100th Birthday January 19

TORONTO.—Sir William Mulock, Canada's "grand old man," celebrated his 100th birthday by visiting Osgoode hall to receive the congratulations of judiciary and bar and by holding a reception at his home attended by friends, including Prime Minister King.

Still active despite his age, Sir William officiated at a convocation at the University of Toronto of which he is chancellor, conferring an honorary degree of doctor of laws on Crown Prince Olaf of Norway.

PATRIOTS EXECUTED

LONDON.—At least 20,000 Dutch patriots were executed by German occupation authorities from the time of the invasion of Holland up to last December, it is estimated by the Netherlands underground paper Het Parool. A copy of the paper received here said 640 patriots were sentenced to death in Holland in October alone.

British War Prisoners Escape

These two British prisoners, shown in civilian clothes aboard the jeep which brought them back from the Allied front lines, escaped from a camp in northern Italy and walked 250 miles through German-occupied territory to reach the British lines. They are Corp. J. C. Cuth, King's Own Royal Regiment, of Barrow-on-Furness, Eng., who was taken prisoner at Tobruk, 18 months ago, and Private Harry Rostance, of Birmingham, a commando captured in Tunisia.

A PACT IS SIGNED BETWEEN AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND DEALING WITH VITAL PROBLEMS

CANBERRA.—Australia and New Zealand signed a pact which turned the two dominions into a single bloc for dealing with post-war civilian and defence problems.

The formal signing at parliament house here followed several days of discussion among Prime Minister Curtin of Australia, Prime Minister Fraser of New Zealand and members of their governments.

Mr. Curtin said that the pact made the two dominions a single bloc in international affairs but added, if any of our Pacific neighbors are in agreement with the principles . . . they can be assured we are eager to collaborate with them."

He described the agreement as "a representative attempt by the two dominions to use their own resources for peace, welfare and good government of the whole Pacific region not in their own interests but in the interests of all Pacific countries."

Mr. Fraser denied any suggestion that the conference had met to aggrandize Australia and New Zealand.

On the contrary, he said, the conference was aimed entirely at the welfare of all native peoples of the Pacific.

Reuters news agency reported the two governments had agreed that construction for use by any power of naval, military and air installations in any territory under sovereign control of another power does not in itself afford a basis for post-war claims of territory.

Reuters also said the two governments had agreed on:

1. Fuller information and exchange of views and facts on matters of common interest.

2. Mutual assurance each government will, as far as possible, know the other's mind before views are expressed elsewhere.

3. A maximum degree of unity in views and presentation elsewhere.

4. Continuous consultations as a means of enabling each dominion to get directly the other's opinion.

5. Common action in matters of common concern in the southwest Pacific areas.

6. As far as is compatible with separate military commands, war efforts are to be co-ordinated.

7. Interests should be protected by the highest level of representation on all armistice-planning executive bodies.

8. Final peace settlement should be made only after hostilities with all enemies have been concluded.

9. Each will seek agreement with the other on any armistice terms.

10. Both should actively participate in any armistice commission.

11. Both will set up after hostilities end committees for giving views of the respective governments.

12. They will collaborate on location and machinery set up under international organizations, particularly as regards location of a Far Eastern committee.

BAN EXTENDED

Military Training For Coal Miners Postponed To August 1

OTTAWA.—Labor Minister Mitchell announced that blanket postponement of military training for men employed in coal mining has been extended to August 1, 1944. Similar extension has been applied to the ban on acceptance of coal miners for voluntary enlistment in any branch of the armed forces.

The original order-in-council affecting labor shortages, was passed May 17, 1943, and was effective Feb. 1, 1944.

Survey Parties Have Made Start on a New Air Route to Alaska on Canadian Soil

OTTAWA.—A start has been made on the development of a new air route to Alaska, north and east of the present northwest staging route from Edmonton to Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, it was learned.

The new route will follow the old Canadian air trail down the Mackenzie river valley and branch northwards from McPherson via Bell-Porcupine and Blue Fish-Porcupine in the northern Yukon to Alaska.

Survey parties of the R.C.A.F. and transport department now are in the field attempting to set out sites on Canadian soil, the wartime information board said in a review of northwest developments. These fields will connect with the present Mackenzie river chain of airports from Fort McMurray, Alta., to Norman Wells, N.W.T.

The extension will involve the construction of airfields at Good Hope, Arctic Red River and McPherson, all familiar ports of call for Canadian airmen using planes with skis or floats since 1929. Other fields will be constructed at chosen points in Yukon Territory and Alaska. The new route will be alternative to the Edmonton-Whitehorse course, and may be used when weather conditions further west are poor.

Floating-equipped planes carried material and supplies to the Canadian survey parties last summer and fall, and it is expected that work will be completed early this year. With the survey reports at hand, arrangements for construction of the fields are expected to go forward.

Construction of other airfields along the Mackenzie river have been undertaken by United States army personnel or their contractors, and authorities said they believed work on the extension probably would be a United States undertaking.

The northwest staging route was built by Canada at a cost of $25,000,000 but has been used extensively by United States machines since 1941.

Until 1942, air traffic down the Mackenzie was carried by float or ski planes. When the United States decided to proceed with the Canol project, involving construction of a pipeline from Fort Norman oil wells to Whitehorse, the need arose for airplanes carrying far greater payloads to augment water shipments down the river.

Twin-engined, wheel aircraft were decided on as the most suitable carriers and landing facilities were provided at Fort McMurray, Embarras, Fort Smith, Fort Resolution, Hay River, Fort Providence, Mills Lake, Fort Simpson, Wrigley, Norman Wells, Camp Canol, Peace River, Metis and Upper Hay River post.

A cut-off route running between Peace River, in Alberta and Mills Lake in the Northwest Territories, used mainly during the winter months, is included in the scheme.

In a review of Canadian-United States joint defence undertakings, the wartime information board said construction of the airports on the southern reaches of the Mackenzie began on May 15, 1942. No information was given out on the program until it was practically completed, as security reasons were involved.

Bonds of friendship uniting Canada and China were tightened at the Longue Pointe Ordnance Depot, Mont-real, when this 6-pounder anti-tank gun, a gift of the employees of the Inspection Board, United Kingdom and Canada, was presented to Hon. Dr. Liu Shih Shun, Chinese Minister to Canada, by Brigadier G. B. Howard, Ottawa, Controller-General of the Board. Shown here, left to right, are Lt.-Col. T. S. Ho, Chinese Ordnance expert; Dr. Yui Ming, Director of Chinese Ministry of Information in Canada; Maj. Gen. Chiang of the Chinese Army; Col. L. Patrick, Officer commanding Longue Pointe Depot; Lt.-Col. C. S. Kirby, Ottawa, Assistant Director of Inspection, Gun and Carriages; Brig. Howard, Dr. Liu, Lt.-Col. A. S. English, Montreal, Administrative Officer of the Board, and Maj. Gen. E. J. Renaud, C.B.E., Officer commanding Military District No. 4.

Closing Announcement

Having sold my drug business to Mr. Gordon Steeves, of Blairmore, who will henceforth run it under the name of Coleman Pharmacy, I wish to thank the citizens of Coleman for their patronage through the past years.

Mr. Steeves will commence operating the business on Monday, January 31st, 1944.

The new manager will be Mr. Fred Smith, who has been Mr. Steeves' assistant during the past several years.

I solicit your splendid patronage for Mr. Steeves as you have accorded me during my business here.

RE OUTSTANDING ACCOUNTS

I would appreciate all outstanding accounts owing me to be paid at the earliest possible date. Due accounts will be received at the drug store.

H. C. McBURNEY.

Druggist and Stationer

Main Street, Coleman

Agent for the Blairmore Greenhouse

New Stock Arriving Daily

Clothing for Every Member of the Family

We have just returned from an extensive shopping trip at Calgary and Edmonton and have been most fortunate in securing garments that will suit every member of the family.

Leather Jackets Genuine Horsehide $14.50 to $22.50

CHARLES NICHOLAS

"The Family Clothier"

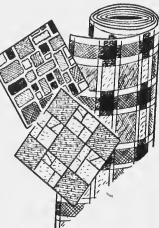

Main Street, Coleman

NEW ARRIVAL OF Floor Coverings

3 patterns of 9 ft. wide to choose from, priced at $2.75 a lineal yd.

Several Rug Patterns.
sizes 9 x 9, 9 x 10; and
9 x 12, at $10.50 to $12.75

INLAID LINOLEUM
at per lineal yd.... $5.50

Coleman Hardware and Furniture Co.
W. DUTIL, Mgr.

Phone 68

PALACE THEATRE HIGH-CLASS ENTERTAINMENT

Program For Coming Week

Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 29 and 31 and Feb. 1
Errol FLYNN, Ann SHERIDAN, Walter HOUSTON, in

'Edge of Darkness'

also NEWS and NOVELTY

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, February 2, 3 and 4

DOUBLE PROGRAM

"JACARE"

A Nature Film of Wild Life.

also

"THE CITY THAT STOPPED HITLER"

A story of the Russian-German War at Stalingrad.

Cole's Theatre, Bellevue

Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 29-31 and Feb. 1

Bob HOPE and Dorothy LAMOUR, in

"You've Got Me Covered"

also NEWS, NOVELTY and SHORTS

Orpheum Theatre, Blairmore

Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 29-31 and Feb. 1

Rosalind RUSSELL and Fred McMURRAY

in

'Flight to Freedom'

A story based on the last trip of America's great flyer, Amelia Earhart, who flew into the South Pacific never to be heard of again.

also NEWS, NOVELTY and SHORTS

Local News

L/C A. Thorner, of Red Deer, spent the week-end at his home.

Mrs. J. Orr, of Wetaskiwin, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Mozell.

Pte. Wm. Martland spent a furlough at his home here during the week.

Miss Emily Hirsch, of Vancouver, is the guest of her sister Mrs. R. Jackson.

Master Henry Vincent is enjoying a vacation with his grandmother at Erickson, B.C.

Mrs. J. Dwyer, of Cowleyton, spent last week the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John McQuarrie.

Mrs. Russel, of Carmangay, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Nuisance for a few days.

Mr. J. M. Allan is attending the Associated Grocers convention at Calgary this week.

Mrs. S. R. Ryan entertained at two tables of bridge on Thursday evening. Winners were Mrs. J. Kinneir and Mrs. L. Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vincent and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Wavre can were joint hosts at a farewell party at the home of the former last Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lukack. Guests of honour were presented with farewell gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Lukack left on Sunday for Vancouver where they will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Root and family, of Travers, are visiting relatives for a few days.

Staff Sergeant Irene Brennan was the recent guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brennan.

Mr. George Derbyshire has returned home after being a patient in the local hospital for a few weeks.

Mrs. A. R. Montalbetti and young daughter and Mrs. A. Montalbetti were Lethbridge visitors on Tuesday.

Mrs. J. M. Allan is spending a vacation with her son-in-law and daughter, Sub-Lieut. and Mrs. W. Hoyle, of Vancouver.

Mr. Julian Christensen returned home last week after spending a month with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Root, of Travers.

JET FOR POLISHING HOT Stoves is a Boon. Winter months mean hot stoves always. "JET" is safe, handy. Sold everywhere.

BICYCLE REPAIRS: I have the equipment to make repairs on any bicycle. All work guaranteed. Apply George McMullen, main street, Coleman.

Mrs. Stuart Murdoch and two daughters spent the week-end at Fernie, the guests of her mother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Pattinson, and daughter and Mr. S. Murdoch motored to Fernie on Sunday. Mrs. Murdoch and children returning home in the evening with them.

Mrs. Edith Hayson entertained at three tables of bridge on Thursday. Honors were won by Mrs. H. H. Gardner, Mrs. R. R. Pattinson and Mrs. G. Thomson.

IMPORTANT: Local bandmen having instruments and other band property are instructed to turn same into James Cousins at the town hall between 7 and 8 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 2.

THE DOMINION OF CANADA GENERAL Insurance Company

PROTECT YOUR FAMILY—
HELP YOUR COUNTRY

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE PREMIUMS
ARE GOING INTO VICTORY BONDS

Adam Wilson

GENERAL INSURANCE

Phone 173w Coleman, Alberta

LIFE, FIRE, SICKNESS & ACCIDENT, AUTOMOBILE

Quality Goods

SANI-FLUSH,	.29
per tin
DRAIN CLEANER,	.30
per tin
CHLORIDE OF	.29
LIME, 2 tins
GEM LYE,	.25
2 tins
LYE, Gillette,	.15
per tin

Johnson's Floor Polishes

PASTE WAX,	.65
per tin
GLO-COAT,	.65
pints
GLO-COAT,	1.15
quarts

Tea Bags

TEA BAGS, Lipton's, Red Rose, Salada,	1.25
125 bags

PEPSI-COLA, case	1.59
24 of 24 bottles, for... Plus Deposit

FRUIT SALTS, Eno's, small bottles

FRUIT SALTS, Eno's, large bottle

MAZOLA OIL, for Salads or Cooking, per bottle

DATED COFFEE, Malkin's, always fresh, per pound

CORN MEAL, Maple Leaf, 2½-pound package

FARINA, Maple Leaf, Cereal, 2½-lb package

CREAM OF WHEAT, Quick Cooking or Regular, pug

SALT, McMurray, plain or iodized, per package

SALT, Windsor, plain or iodized, 2 packages

PEPPER, Pure, Black, ½-lb package

PEPPER, Pure, White, ½-lb package

LUX TOILET SOAP, 8 bars

PALMOLIVE SOAP, 8 bars

CAMAY SOAP, 4 bars

WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP, 3 bars

LIFEBUOY SOAP, 4 bars

QUEST IVORY SOAP, 4 bars

WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP, 3 bars

IVORY SNOW, 4 bars

CHIPSOS, Regular, per package

OXYDOL, Regular, per package

SHREDDED WHEAT, 3 packages for

RICE KRISPES, 2 packages

SHREDDIES, 2 packages for

PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES, per package

MAPLE LEAF SOAP FLAKES, per package

THIRTY SOAP FLAKES, per package

ASSOCIATED GROCERS LTD. SERVICE AG QUALITY

J. M. ALLAN
Phone 32 - "The Store of Better Service"

CAMPBELL'S SOUPS

Chicken Noodle, Chicken Gumbo, Chicken Rice, 2 tins for .29

Consmomme and Mushroom

Vegetable, Scotch Broth, Celery and

Vegetable - Beef

LIPTON'S NOODLE SOUP MIX, 2 packages for .25c

SUPER BLEACH, large bottles, 2 for .39

LIQUID AMMONIA, 2 bottles .29

NON-SUCH Window Cleaner, bottle .15

NON-SUCH Stove Polish, bottle .25

BRASSO, SILVO, per tin .30

RIGHT PRICES

SUPER BLEACH, large bottles, 2 for .39

LIQUID AMMONIA, 2 bottles .29

NON-SUCH Window Cleaner, bottle .15

NON-SUCH Stove Polish, bottle .25

BRASSO, SILVO, per tin .30

FLOOR WAX

Floor Wax, Elegant, per tin .39

FLO-GLAZE, per tin .40

GLOSSIT, per tin .50

CHAN WAX, per tin .55

ROBON TEA, per pound .75

FORT GARRY TEA, per pound .85

Something Better

BLAIRMORE POP, case of 24 bottles, for .12.50

Plus Deposit

ROMAN MEAL, Dr. Jackson's, per pkg .35

BREX, the new Breakfast Cereal, per package

TONIK WHEAT GERM, Oglivie's, per package .50

COCOA, Fry's, 1-lb tin .33

COCOA, Cowan's Perfection, 1-lb tin .29

ENERGY CHOCOLATE, use it hot or cold, per pkg .29

PASTRY FLOUR, Oglivie's Royal Chief, 7-lb sack .45

WHEAT GRANULES, Oglivie's, 7-lb sack .35

GRAHAM or WHOLE WHEAT FLOUR, 7-lb sack .30

Flour- Oglivie's Royal Household, 24 lb. sack 90c, 49 lb. sack $1.65, 98 lb. sack $3.10 -Flour

LUX TOILET SOAP, 8 bars	.47	QUEST IVORY SOAP, 4 bars	.23	CHIPSOS, Regular, per package	.27
PALMOLIVE SOAP, 8 bars	.47	WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP, 3 bars	.25	OXYDOL, Regular, per package	.27
CAMAY SOAP, 4 bars	.25	LIFEBUOY SOAP, 4 bars	.25	IVORY SNOW, per package	.27
WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP, 3 bars					